Congress Ponders Huge Problems Of National Budget

Members Still Half-Stunned

TAX REVISIONS CERTAIN TO COME

Colossal Problem Of Raising Money To Meet Deficits
Is Faced

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Congress was still half-stunned today by the revelation that the federal budget is over $7,000,000,000 "in the red," that federal expenditures this year will exceed $10,000,000,000, and that the national debt in 1935 will reach an all-time high record of nearly $32,000,000,000.

This "brutally frank" picture of federal finances was placed before congress by President Roosevelt in submitting the greatest peace-time budget in the country's history. The phrase "brutally frank" is his own. It staggered Democrat and Republican alike.

Democrats Philosophical

After the first shock of surprise—and it was a surprise to most members—the Democrats were inclined to be philosophical about it. They shrugged it off by saying it was the cost of national recovery, and they stoutly asserted the country is recovering.

At the same time, the Republicans felt that President Roosevelt has at last given them an issue upon which they can go to the country in the approaching congressional elections—the issue of Democratic spending.

On all sides the question arose: "Where is the money coming from?" To that question there were various replies, depending upon the particular slant of whoever was replying.

President Roosevelt frankly informed the congress that in the next six months the government must borrow approximately $10,000,000,000 of which $6,000,000,000 is new money, and $4,000,000,000 to finance maturing securities.

Some Doubt Expressed
The manner in which this is to be accomplished was not disclosed, but there was no intimation that other than the usual methods will be pursued—i. e., public offerings of government securities.

Many Republicans privately expressed doubt that the public, even though business is getting better, is in a position to absorb ten billions in new government obligations during the next six months.

BRITISH LIQUOR IMPORTS HALTED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Great Britain's refusal to eat more American pork products has resulted in halting the flow of British liquor to this country it was learned today.

The original liquor quota granted Britain became exhausted several days ago. Now the American trade negotiators are insisting Britain agree to take American pork and ham products in return for an increased quota.

The British government has been notified no more permits will be issued for the entry of British liquor until an understanding is reached.

Britain is reluctant to agree to the demand of the American trade negotiators because an increase in its pork and ham purchases from this country would conflict both with its domestic policy and trade agreements it has with other nations.

Under the national government's economic program efforts are underway to make the British Isles more self-sustaining and less dependent upon the rest of the world for foodstuffs. In line with this policy is the desire to avoid making any new commitments concerning the actual amount of food products Britain is prepared to import for a definite period of time.

How British Press Views Budget Plan Given By Roosevelt

(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 5.—Expressing frank amazement, mixed with some apprehension, at the size of the deficit in President Roosevelt's budget program, the British press today agreed almost unanimously that the plan was far more applicable in the United States than it would be in Great Britain.

Papers of virtually every political hue reiterated their admiration for Roosevelt as leader in the war on the depression, and admitted his budget plan was more sound for the United States, rich in resources than it probably would be for Great Britain, dependent upon foreign trade for her prosperity.

Nearly every paper pointed out that Roosevelt was asking a war time budget for his war time program for recovery.

Typical comments were:
Daily Telegraph: "Referring to the budget program as a 'gallant defiance of orthodoxy, obviously the situation is one of immense gravity but there is nothing new in that. President Roosevelt is leading the nation in a desperate fight for economic self-preservation. The situation is in no way comparable with

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 5.—Marooned by fog in the upper air lanes over northern New Jersey for more than four hours, Dean Burford, veteran Transcontinental-Western Air Lines pilot, safely landed his plane at the airport here at 4:40 a. m. today.

Burford brought his plane into the field from which he had taken off four hours earlier after circling vainly over the northern section of the state, seeking to slip through a heavy ground haze and set down his ship, loaded with a valuable mail cargo.

Forty-five minutes later he reported by radio to airport officials that he had run into a heavy steel storm, that ice was forming on the wings of the plane and he deemed it advisable to turn back.

Shortly after 1 a. m. a plane believed to be Burford's was heard over the airport here, where visibility was extremely poor and a very low ceiling prevailed. Radio (Continued On Page Two)

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 5.—President Roosevelt proposed in his speech that under the NRA and a lot of these other government regulators, business ethics would be made permanent.

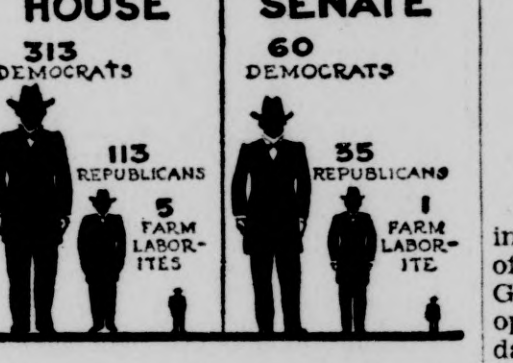

Well, that was a terrible blow to some business men. They had figured they would only be required to be honest by the government, till the emergency was over.

The papers today tell of a little country in the Pyrenees Mountains that has six army officers, and only six plain soldiers. That strikes us as being mighty comical. Yet, we got 120,000,000 people and 60,000,000 hold government jobs.

Yours,
Will Rogers.

Smoke Belching From Chimney In House Side Of Capitol Causes Fire Alarm

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Failure of a Capitol employee to turn on the ventilation system in the House side of the Capitol gave dozens of fire engine crews a stiff workout early today. When an unidentified person saw smoke belching from one of the chimneys he became excited and turned in a silent alarm, bringing more than a hundred fire fighters to the scene.

The fire, it was believed, was built in one of the fireplaces in the left wing. When the firemen arrived they found only fireplace fires and little smoke.

"Ordinarily," explained Gus Cook, assistant Capitol architect, "the ventilation system carries off the smoke. But this morning the weather was mild and it failed to do so."

Claim Bullet Killed Rheta Wynekoop; Not Dose Of Chloroform

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—A bullet fired into her nude back and not chloroform, brought death to Rheta Gardner Wynekoop as she lay on an operating table, it was disclosed today in a hitherto secret report made by physicians who exhumed the young wife's body at Indianapolis.

This analysis of Rheta's body showing no trace of chloroform in the brain will form the basis of the state's case against Dr. Alice Lind-say Wynekoop, mother-in-law of the victim, prosecutors hinted reluctantly. Dr. Wynekoop will go on trial for the pretty violinist's murder on January 11.

Conceal Medical Blunder
In a signed "confession" later repudiated, the woman physician held that her daughter-in-law had died from an over dose of chloroform while submitting to a medical examination, the bullet, according to the statement, was fired into Rheta's back to conceal a medical blunder.

If chloroform had caused the death of Mrs. Wynekoop, medical authorities say, traces of the anesthetic would have been evident in the brain fluid. But the report of Dr. J. J. Kearns and Dr. John Frost, who made the examination, reported that the brain contained no evidence of chloroform, according to assistant prosecutor Chas. S. Dougherty.

TEST NEW TYPE GUN FOR U.S. AGENTS

Speed Up War On Criminals

Hoover Is Testing Latest Type Of Machine Gun For Officers Use

GANGSTERS WILL BE PUT TO ROUT

By THOMAS F. CULLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Machine guns of a new and more powerful type will be in the hands of federal agents engaged in the government's war against extortion and kidnapping, if tests being conducted by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the campaign, are satisfactory, it was revealed today.

Hoover, head of the division of investigation, the agency of the United States government fighting this battle, for sometime has been conducting tests of more effective machine guns that those with which the agents are now equipped. Added impetus was given to determine federal action against crime by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his opening message to congress when he said: "These violations of law call on the strong arm of government for their immediate suppression; they call also on the country for an aroused public opinion."

Will Aid Officers
Director Hoover, of the federal bureau, feels that a machine gun with more penetrating power, faster operation and higher caliber than those heretofore used in police work will be of decided advantage to his men in the field.

These agents are now furnished with machine guns of the so called sub-calibre type which fire .45 calibre bullets at the rate of about 400 a minute.

Many criminals and gangsters have used similar arms, but recently it was learned that some have obtained weapons with a greater range and more power.

Verne Miller, gunman who was killed a short time ago in Detroit, escaped from federal agents and Chicago police a few weeks before his death, notwithstanding the fact that several machine gun bullets punctured the back of his car.

Had the men been using the improved type of arm, it is believed by those close to the department, Miller would have been stopped on that occasion.

The new gun will penetrate metal and many inches of hardwood, and has an effective range of several miles.

In addition to this armament, the federal agents are being furnished with tear gas and the paraphernalia with which it is made effective.

Two gigantic columns of whirling water, picked up by the destructive winds, swooped in from off Pensacola Bay yesterday afternoon to deluge the waterfront, smashing docks of the Pure Oil Company and battering the Bruce drydock.

Dropping its burden of tons of sea water as it struck the land, one of the swirling cones raked the waterfront, cut northward along the fringe of the business district, veered through the negro section and roared away into the north-east.

The destructive winds left a swath of wrecked and splintered structures 150 feet wide and three blocks long. Sheet iron roofs and timbers from shattered structures whirled through the air under the pressure of the twisting winds.

Will Head General Committee In Charge Of President's Birthday Ball On January 30

Attorney W. Walter Braham today accepted the general chairmanship of the President's Birthday Ball to be held in New Castle January 30, 1934, according to an announcement by Dr. John P. Meehan who has been acting as temporary general chairman.

The ball is being held simultaneously in every city in the United States, the proceeds to go to the Warm Springs Foundation for Crippled Children in Warm Springs, Georgia. Because President Roosevelt has been benefitted by the treatment there it has been thought that his own birthday January 30 would be a fitting day on which to hold the ball for the clinic.

In accepting the chairmanship Mr. Braham said, "such a cause deserves the support of every American citizen. Any organization devoting its time and energies to the relief of suffering among little children is entitled to the support of all of us and I accept the post willingly."

The Chamber of Commerce and various civic bodies in the city are lending their assistance to putting the ball over and there should be a capacity crowd in the Cathedral ball room on the night of January 30.

DR. R. A. WALDRON IS GARDEN CLUB SPEAKER

Thursday afternoon, at the Y. W. C. A. was the center of attraction for a large number of ladies when the Lawrence County Garden Club entertained their affiliated clubs at a luncheon and social get-together followed by the installation of their newly elected officers for the term of 1934.

The room was filled with buzzing activity and the ladies were served a tasty menu buffet style while at the same time they endeavored to become acquainted with their neighboring club associates. Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood and Mrs. William Howley with their aides were gracious in seeing each was taken care of. It was with deep regret that their hostess, Mrs. S. D. Pearson was unable to be present, due to the fact she accepted an engagement last June to speak at Wilkinsburg before club women on January 4.

The business session followed, and Mrs. Eckenrood in turn called on representatives from the New Bedford, North Beaver, East Side, West Side, Mahoningtown, East Brook and Lawrence County Garden Clubs who gave the high lights of what they have accomplished during the past year. In general, they told of flower shows and with what success each met; pilgrimages; picnic outings and social functions; flower seed exchanges; speakers secured for meetings; illustrated talks; charity events; county meetings attended; growing of memberships etc.

A unique "Wayside Garden" on a small scale exhibited at the State Federation meeting in Pittsburgh, was presented to the Lawrence County Garden Club, and they will pass it on to each of their sister clubs. North Beaver members received it yesterday.

Mrs. Eckenrood, the outgoing president, introduced and installed each officer in a most capable and fitting manner. They are as follows: president, Mrs. Alan Ingals; first vice, Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood; second vice, Mrs. William Howley; recording secretary, Mrs. Albert Treser; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger; treasurer, Mrs. W. C. Kennedy and member at large, Mrs. S. D. Pearson.

Mrs. B. K. Thacker introduced their guest speaker, Dr. R. A. Waldron of the Biology Department of Slippery Rock State Teachers College. He chose for his subject "Plant Life and its message was most interesting. He told of the pre-historic gardens; how the future of the flowers depends largely on man's imagination and efforts; how modern man has provided a great number of new-comers to the gardens of today and stressed in particular of the important work garden clubs do. He told of the examples they set for their neighbors and expressed the importance of continuing with the school garden subjects. He concluded his talk with an invitation to members as a group or individually to visit the gardens and biology department at Slippery Rock sometime in May or June.

The next meeting of the Lawrence County Garden Club will be held Thursday, February 1 at the home of Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger on Laurel Boulevard. Plans for gardens will be taken to this session.

BULLITT ON RUSSIA

WILLIAM C. BULLITT, American ambassador to Russia, who is returning to the United States after a brief visit to Moscow, finds that a "great change" has taken place since his visit a year ago.

"The people are now well clothed and provided with many things not obtainable when I was there before," he said during a stopover in Paris.

The main purpose of Mr. Bullitt's trip was to make preliminary plans for establishing American government services in Russia. Although he found a housing shortage in Moscow, he predicted that satisfactory accommodations would be obtained.

The fact that diplomats often are restrained by the necessities of their official position from giving expression to their frank views detracts from the importance of their utterances.

Ambassador Bullitt made no comment upon the prospects of trade between Russia and the United States. When will Russian buying begin and how extensive it is likely to be are questions many American business men now are chiefly interested in in connection with Russia.

It is not improbable that the ambassador obtained some reliable information relating to this subject. What he learned, however, he probably will reserve for confidential presentation to Washington officials.

If general conditions in Russia are undergoing important actual improvement, as Mr. Bullitt indicated was the case, this would constitute a favorable background for American-Russian trade. The real situation is likely to be disclosed soon. American business concerns have their private sources of information in such matters and are busy now gathering data bearing upon the Russian situation.

SHORT AND SWIFT

Speaker Rainey is optimistic and confident.

He believes the session of congress will be short and that it will be confined largely to routine matters. Adjournment early in May is predicted.

One particularly encouraging feature of his talk with newspaper men was his assertion that "we have done everything we want in the way of recovery measures in the special session."

This would indicate that no further radical experiments requiring congressional approval are contemplated. The speaker gave his ideas in an interview that followed his conference with the president. It is reasonable to suppose that his were a reflection of the views held by Mr. Roosevelt.

The president has not yet used the full powers granted him by the special session of congress. In monetary and other matters, considerable latitude remains.

The speaker is convinced, notwithstanding criticism from Democratic sources concerning some of the features of recovery efforts, that congress is prepared to give the president solid support.

"It will be a working session," he said in referring to the meeting, "pass supply bills, tax bills and liquor bills, and adjourn early in May. There will not be any attempt to overthrow anything that the last session of congress enacted, and there will be no attempt to oppose the president."

The speaker's optimism and confidence may be well founded. That no effective opposition to the president is likely to develop seems assured. But signs are not lacking entirely that the inflationists have abandoned their plans to pull the president farther in their direction than he has gone. It is doubtful, though if they can demand enough support, in view of the undoubtedly strong sentiment against inflation, to put through a program.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Rainey's prediction of a short session will be come to pass. An extended session hardly could prove otherwise than unfavorable to business at this time. Anything done ought to be of an unquestionably constructive nature.

This is not a time for the display of bitter partisanship by any group or faction. Nor would it be more proper for the administration to give the appearance of believing that the king can do no wrong.

PAGE UNCLE JOE CANNON

The shade of "Uncle Joe" Cannon doubtless looked on in horror this week when nine women took their places in the National House of Representatives. The country must have come to a pretty pass if a crowd of females is needed to help make the laws! Is this nation a democracy or a matriarchy?

The modern rush to name the widow of a deceased congressman to continue his term may be slightly on the side of hysterical sentimentalism, but such congresswomen as Mrs. Mary Norton, Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers and Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, together with such former members as Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, now Minister to Denmark, and Mrs. Ruth Pratt have proved that female lawmakers are not figureheads, but have a vital part in the nation's rule.

It is not unlikely that historians of the future will cite the March of Progress away back in 1934 when nine women, even if one of them did face a contest, were in congress' halls.

Baby shows are to supplant beauty contests in Italy. The change will not improve the position of the judges.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

LIFE DOESN'T FAIL US

Why does life fail us? Why does it wreck our ideals, smudge our dreams, prove false to all those great hopes we had?

I've heard people ask those questions. I've heard them put those thoughts most wistfully into words, and you cannot help sympathizing when you hear those sad questions come from the lives of despairing human beings.

But I do not believe life fails us, and I do not think it is life that "wrecks our ideals," or proves false. I think these things happen to us because we do not understand what life is really like. It smudges our dreams when our dreams are not of this world but of some imagined world that exists neither on land nor sea nor air. It proves false to all who try to "get something for nothing" out of living.

Once I read a poem about an ax helve, by Robert Frost. The poet was chopping wood in his yard when a woodsman neighbor came along and told him the helve of the ax was bad. The grain ran across the helve, instead of along the lines of the handle. The neighbor took Frost to his home and showed him a good ax handle. He showed him that the lines of a good helve were native to the grain before the knife.

Expressed them, and its curves were no false curves. Put on it from without."

And thus it had strength for the hard work. Thus it could endure. Thus it bent but did not break as it was flung down and the sharp edge bit into the tough wood of the day's chore.

So many of our ideas about life are like bad ax helves. They do not follow the lines of human nature. The strength is not in them. They last only until they are put to the test, and then they break. And if they are OUR ideas we become our fate and the ax that fails. But it did not fail; we failed the keen ax by giving it a handle that was not "native to the grain."

And thus life does not fail us nearly as much as we fail life, which needs wisdom as much as it needs faith.

FRIENDS INDEED

Apparently you are a firm friend, ready and willing to do anything you can for the person who does not need any help from you.

But how about it when hard luck comes and that friend needs some assistance and appeals to you?

Are you as ready then, as you were before?

Hale fellow, enthusiastic companion, when he could maintain his end of the program in a financial way, but since misfortune has him down, what now?

One of the most saddening effects of ill luck is the very noticeable change it makes in those who were considered friends.

They assume an air of sympathy, but even before a request is made, they are putting forth arguments to show they are not in a position to give assistance.

They want to forestall a request for aid which they expect and which they should in reality be happy to extend.

Happy is the man whose friends come to him in trouble and offer help.

It is wonderful the encouragement and pleasure such an offer creates. To express confidence in a man when he is down is the truest sort of boost and proves friendship better than countless protestations in fair weather.

Fame smiled at him and said: "Well done, indeed, today! A laurel for your head."

And cheers along the way. A medal for your breast. A brief time free from sorrow. This day you've done your best! But what about tomorrow?

"Tomorrow?" "Yes," said Fame. "Tomorrow you must rise To labor just the same: A new goal farther lies. Soon will these medals fade. That are your coat of arms. Today's success is made. But what about the morning?"

"Has triumph made you vain? That you'll attempt no more? There still are heights to gain Harder than those before. Safely you've struggled through. This trouble and perplexed time. Success has smiled on you! But what about the next time?"

Who Will NRA Critic Be?
Exodus of Financiers
A Changed Al Smith

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The New Year is not likely to be so smooth for the Roosevelt administration, after all. New York looks for a critic of the NRA to rise, an honest critic who will at once uphold the Roosevelt social ideals, but who will object to an obvious drift to fascism through bureaucratic domination.

The worst of it all is that Wall Street will seize the opportunity to try to undo all the good that has been accomplished, and to perpetuate all the evils.

Once he said what he thought of bankers. Now he is a banker. Once he spoke in a language that the man of the street could understand. Now his own bailiwicks express bewilderment—and follow other leaders.

EINSTEIN Professor Albert Einstein is enjoying Princeton, N. J. He and his wife are often seen on the streets of the college town. "Mamma" is very economical. The Einsteins even moved to a smaller house.

The Bamberger research school at Princeton university is unique. It was made possible by a $5,000,000 gift from a retired merchant of Newark.

There are no entrance tests, no examinations, no diplomas, no study hours. There are merely heart-to-heart discussions. The greatest scientists of their kind in the world hold these discussions. The students listen—or join in, if they can.

This type of school is expected to lead to some of the greatest discoveries ever recorded, to solve mysteries never even penetrated hitherto.

In it there is one scientist whom Einstein himself has picked as likely to become far greater than Einstein himself. He is Theodore Vahlen.

Incidentally, "school" already has ended for this year. It lasts only four months. Einstein is said to have engagements elsewhere—Presumably in Europe. Or is it California?

Byrd Describes Antarctic Flight

Commander Byrd Tells Of Airplane Flight Over Frozen Wastes In Search Of Land

IMMENSE ICEBERGS
SEEN DURING TRIP

(International News Service)
ABOARD S. S. JACOB RUPPERT, Jan. 5.—A dramatic story of his flight across the Antarctic icepack through snowstorms during which he sighted "the loneliest couple of the earth"—a pair of Emperor penguins—was told Thursday by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.
"Things did not look promising when we squared away for the south," he said. "At 400 feet above
the flagship we ran into snow
clouds."

Low Altitude.
"Because of the low altitude at which we had to fly and the speed
therefore at which surface objects flew past, we couldn't depend upon the drift indicator. This condition gave me one anxious moment."

"When we took off the wind was faint and in the northwest. About 30 miles south it had shifted abruptly into the east. It didn't seem possible that it could have had such a great change in so short a time.
For a time I was afraid my compass was off and we were headed north."

Drop Smoke Bombs.
After dropping smoke bombs and descending to 50 feet above the surface, the flight continued.

"About 110 miles south we raised
the largest ice floes I have ever seen.
In the haze we couldn't see what lay beyond."

"We flew across it at an altitude of about 300 feet and discovered that it was a giant floe at least 20 miles wide. How long it was we couldn't tell. That immense slab of unbroken ice, showing absolutely no sign of pressure, was convincing proof that deep ocean lay underneath and that no land was hereabouts."

Saw Penguins.
"In the middle of the floe the only living creatures we had seen were two huge emperor penguins.
They heard our engines, because they got down on their bellies after glancing wildly around and made off on their flippers."

"It never occurred to them,
probably, to look up. No preying enemy had ever attacked them from above, or at any rate, made the noise that our two 700 horsepower produced."

"It struck me that here was the loneliest couple on the earth."
The trip home, Admiral Byrd said, was "tough" owing to snowsqualls.

Saw Ice Bergs.
"Towards the end of the homeward bound leg," he said, "the air cleared a bit and we swung to the eastward to look at a big berg we had sighted from the ship Monday afternoon. I should say it was at least 25 miles long and four miles wide. Another huge berg had collided with it, and lay jammed
against it."

Bill Haines, weather forecaster, had advised against the flight at the time owing to weather conditions.

"The weather isn't going to get any better," Haines told the commander.

"Well," replied Byrd, "we aren't going to get anything done just hanging around here, and you've got to take risks in this part of the world."

The Gospel Of The Kingdom

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Matthew 1:21—"And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins."

(The International Uniform Lessons for the first six months of 1934
will constitute a study of the Gospel according to Matthew. Instead of confining this week's comments to the lesson assigned for Jan. 7 on "The Birth and Infancy of Jesus," readers are giving our readers an introductory analysis of Matthew which is quoted with the publisher's permission from "The Gist of the Bible Book by Book" by Dr. Alvan E. Bell, Toledo, O.)

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL.
Our Bibles do not contain "four gospels" for there is but one "gospel of Jesus Christ," and that "good story" or "gospel" is related by four different evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, all writing to different nationalities to portray Jesus Christ from four different standpoints.

Matthew, a former tax collector
wrote to the Jews to prove to them that Jesus of Nazareth was the king of the Jews and the Messiah of Jewish prophecy, in whose life and death the Old Testament prophecies and ritual of the Jews were fulfilled.
His characteristic expression there is, "That it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying." Matthew gives us 60 quotations from the Old Testament. It is, therefore, logical that Matthew, though not written first,

should stand first among the 27 books of the New Testament. Its opening verse is a door which swings backward into the Old Testament: "The book of the generation of Jesus Christ, the Son of David,
the Son of Abraham."
When Matthew left the custom-house he brought with him more than his pen and ink. He brought the ability to classify and codify parables, miracles, sermons and teachings through which runs a common thought, for his biography of Christ is written topically rather than chronologically.

In developing his great theme of the kingdom of Jesus, he first writes of the Person of the King (1:1 to 4:16); then of the Program of the King of his Kingdom (4:17 to 16:20);
and finally of the Rejection of the King and his crucifixion under the title, "This is Jesus of Nazareth the King of the Jews" (16:21 to 28:20).

True to his purpose of convincing his fellow Jews that Jesus was their Messiah, he traces his genealogy not from Adam, as Luke does, but from Abraham. He alone records the visit of the magi who came seeking the King of the Jews. He shows in Jesus' life the fulfillment of Isaiah's prophecy of the virgin birth and incarnation; of Micah's prophecy of Bethlehem as the birth-place; of Jeremiah's prophecy of the slaughter of the innocents; of Isaiah's prophecy of the ministry of the forerunner John the Baptist; and so on through his life to the very end in the betrayal, death and resurrection, matching the Old Testament prophecies with their complete fulfillment in the One he seeks to prove is the king of the Jews.

The essence of Matthew is given in both the message of Jesus and of his forerunner: "Repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Fifty times he uses the word "kingdom" in this connection. This theme of kingdom which characterizes all that Matthew wrote of Jesus led the early Christians to adopt the lion as the symbol to represent Matthew in the art of the early church. The theme of royalty is sustained to the very final note in the triumphant risen king's own claim of universal dominion on which he based his great commission to his disciples to evangelize all nations to his standard: "All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth."

Books At Library Give Suggestions For Leisure Time

List Of Books On "Home Projects" Submitted To Library Borrowers

Is your home shop busy?
While your mill or your shop or office may have no need for you,
would it not be a good time to work out a program of home projects?
Do you need a new wardrobe or cellar shelf? Can you make the pull-toys popular with the children of the early runabout age? Do the kitchen chairs need smoothing and re-finishing? Would you like a bird house or a bird-feeding station?
Can you aid your boy in using or caring for simple tools?

Here is a way to employ some of the leisure which seems at times a man's only possession. Get some of the following books from the public library (these are only a few) and work out some of the suggested projects. One man painted the woodwork in one of the rooms of his home, giving new light to the room.

Others are carrying on various improvements, most of which require little or no new material, only time and energy. The library has collected the following:
Beard—Boat building and boating.
Caviler—Model boat building.
DeVetti—100 problems in woodwork.
Griffith—Essentials of woodworking.
Hjorth—Reproduction of antique furniture.
Hopkins—Home mechanics for amateurs.
Hughes—Handwork for boys.
Kunon—American school toys.
Lippincott—Naturecraft creatures.
Roehl—Household carpentry.
Smith—Bookbinding.
Wakeling—Home workshop manual.
Wheeler—Woodworking.

OK, OKS AND OKER

ALL OKAY IN FRANCE

(International News Service)
PARIS—Just what to do with the verb "okay" is causing a scandal in French purist circles. Having accepted the Americanism, the public began conjugating it in French style. It therefore is I "oke," you "okes," and "oker" for the infinitive.

As it "visionner" wasn't bad enough for the verb to vision, a new word has been heard, "supervisionner" for to supervise. Another Americanism is the single word "comingman" for somebody with a hopeful future.

PAYS FOR BRAUN

(International News Service)
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—After Herbert Pile skinned his first beating up a man whom he caught stealing potatoes from his truck, the city commission gave him $250 to pay for medical treatment.

Eighty Families To Vacate Homes At Sackville, Pa.

Woolen Mill Workers Leave
Homes To Prevent Anthrax Epidemic Spread

ORDER GIVEN OUT
BY MILL OWNER

(International News Service)
MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 5.—Residents of Sackville, a small hamlet, 135-year-old settlement of woolen mill workers, today prepared to vacate their homes because of an outbreak of anthrax, a disease contracted by contact with the hair of animals.

The 80 families in the hamlet have no choice but to obey the edict to desert their homes. If they don't the wage earners will lose their jobs in the Sackville mill.

The order to vacate was issued by R. H. Sack, president of the mill, who personally owns the houses—the most modern of which was built 75 years ago.

One Case Fatal.

Anthrax made its appearance in the town last May. Since then one youth died of it, four others were afflicted, but apparently have recovered. Two new cases recently were discovered.

"We are not afraid of an epidemic," Sack said. "Wool workers do not fear the disease, as it is not serious if treated promptly." Sack explained, however, that the village must be cleared of the germs because there are more than 100 children in the community.

The mill will continue to operate, Sack said, and the residents will be given "a reasonable time" to comply with the order.

Family conferences were held last night about hearth fires, but heads of families found themselves without funds to establish new homes and the opinion was prevalent that none would move before the end of the week.

Gets Cold Up In Vermont Says Lieut. Welsh

New Castle Man, Home For Short Vacation, Tells Of New England Weather

Zero is just a pleasant morning up in the mountains of Vermont, where Lieutenant Paul A. Welsh is stationed at the present time at a veterans' relief camp. Lieutenant Welsh is home for a short leave of absence and relates some interesting experiences of his service in the Green Mountain State.

The camp is composed of 212 veterans who belonged to the original bonus army. They were sent to the camp near Rutland, Vt., and have been organized into a camp similar to the G. C. C. The men work in the mountains clearing brush, cutting down trees and preparing for a reforestation program in the spring.

During the recent severe weather the temperature dropped to 35 degrees below zero, but the dry air compensates for the low temperature and it is not as cold relatively as it is here at zero.

Lieutenant Welsh leaves Monday to return to duty and will likely be stationed at the camp until next fall.

Wall Street Amazed By Candid Message On National Budget

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Inflation-ary. That one word sums up Wall Street's reaction to the president's budget message.

The thing that took the financial district by surprise was not so much the "new deals" cost figures, staggering as they were, but the candidness with which they were presented.

The president, without mincing words, told congress and the nation ten billions would be needed to carry on the job and that the budget would not be balanced until 1936. There were no ifs, ands or buts about it.

While this is upsetting to the so-called conservative interests, there is another side to it. The president by his message has put a definite limit on recovery expenditures, both in time and size. This is the sop to the right wingers.

Balance Budget in 1936.

In his message opening congress the president said the budget would be balanced in the not too distant future, and now in his financial review and forecast he places the time limit for accomplishment of this in the 1936 fiscal year.

Assurances have been given before that the budget would be balanced—both the ordinary and extraordinary expenditures—but this is the first time a definite date has been set.

This is the paragraph that tells the president's whole budget program.

"The excess of expenditures over receipts during this fiscal year amounts to over $7,000,000,000. My estimates for the coming fiscal year show an excess of expenditures over receipts of $2,000,000,000. We should plan to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery and from that time on seek a continuing reduction of the national debt."

Out Into Open.

This brings the picture out into the open, and taxpayers now know the "bad news" before they are finally handed the "check".

Business and financial interests now know what to expect, as far as the cost of the experiments are concerned, and they can set their course accordingly. There is one thing, though, they have yet to be enlightened on—that is the money.

From a tax standpoint, the budget message is also significant. For the fiscal year ending this June, the president estimated government revenues at $3,259,938,756. For the following year he placed them at $3,947,665,479.

The 700 millions increase is based solely on improved business, which, if it continues, would naturally bring in greater revenues. The implication is that tax bills for the general run of citizens will not be greatly changed in the next year or two.

Association Plans Mid-Year Conference

Noon Dinner Features Meeting
Of Lawrence County Sabbath School Executives

The regular monthly meeting of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association met for dinner at the First Christian church at noon Thursday and retired to the church parlors for the meeting following the dinner.

Those present were Robert M. Strickler, Jr., president, vice presidents P. W. Griffin and W. M. Armstrong, Mrs. Robert Nesbitt, teacher training superintendent, Mrs. H. I. ## Transfer Fox To CWA Force

City Forester, Named Recently, To Work As CWA Forester For Time

One of the first acts of Joe Alexander, head of the department of parks and property was to save the city money as he released from the city's employ, Owen Fox, forester, who was desired by the Civil Works administration.

During December an ordinance creating the position of forester was adopted.

At the first session of council this year, Alexander recommended Fox for the position at a salary of $100 a month.

Today in council session at city hall he received councilmanic permission to give Fox a leave of absence so he could work with the CWA which is doing considerable work in the parks.

The CWA will pay Fox thus releasing the city from a $100 monthly salary until his return to his city position.

Steel Corporation Challenges Right To Force Contract

Says National Labor Board
Cannot Force Corporation
Recognize U. M. W.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The United States Steel corporation today challenged the authority of the National Labor board to rule on the refusal of its subsidiary, the H. C. Frick Coal and Coke Co., to make contracts with the United Mine Workers of America.

"Our position has been plain from the start," said Nathan L. Miller, counsel for the corporation, who appeared before the board with W. L. Irvin, president of the corporation, and Thomas Moses, president of the Frick concern. "We are not extending and don't intend extending recognition if that means making a union contract. We recognize that Mr. Murray and Mr. Lewis (John L. Lewis) are officers of the United Mine Workers. We have never made any question of according them that designation, but we have always made it plain that we would not contract with anybody but our employees."

He said his corporation had made it clear to the board in the past "that we would not make a union contract and that we would not arbitrate the question with this board."

Phillip Murray, international vice-president of the United Mine Workers, had the Frick company officials appear before the board because, he charged, they had violated the agreement the owners of "captive mines"—mines operated by steel companies—to mine coal for their own use—made with President Roosevelt Oct. 30.

This agreement permitted the captive miners to elect representatives, under the labor board's supervision, who would represent them in negotiating agreements between the company and its workers.

The board will hear controversies existing in the captive mines of other operators Monday and later will announce its decisions.

KOPPEL

ENTERTAIN FRIENDS
Misses Grace and Rebekah Blair, Second avenue, were pleasing hostesses when they entertained a number of friends at their home recently.

The evening was passed with two tables of cards. Dancing and other games were also in vogue. At a late hour the hostess served the guests with delicious refreshments with holiday colors being used in the appointments.

Those present were: Clarence Bates, Charlotte Richter, Grace Blair, Donald McDonald, Rebekah Blair, Charles Sherman, Catherine Cooper, Kenneth Bunney, Margaret Gasser and Charles C. Campbell.

KOPPEL NOTES

Mrs. H. Jones, Koppel-Wampum road, who has been seriously ill during the past two weeks, is reported as being about the same.

Charles Huester of Homewood, who is seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Roberts, First avenue, is reported as being slightly improved.

Mrs. W. Woods, Butler, has returned to her home following a visit during the past week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Watson and family, Third avenue.

The Beatty school of Big Beaver township will resume its classes on Monday morning. The Christmas holiday was extended in order to complete the painting which is being done by CWA workers.

George Philipp, a student at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., will return to resume his studies Saturday following a visit of several weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Philipp, Second avenue.

About 50 additional men were added to the local force of CWA workers this morning when the work of paving and improving the streets was begun. Rapid progress is being made on the sewer which is being constructed on Green street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. James Young and Mrs. George Young, all of East Palestine, O., have returned to their home following a visit during the past few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Blythe, Second avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Papparelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Papparelli, Third avenue, has been removed to the Providence hospital, Beaver Falls, where she underwent a tonsil operation. She is reported getting along as well as could be expected.

Swick Present As Congress Convenes

Harold C. Hunter, Swick's Secretary, Says Records Will Reveal Fact

That Congressman J. Howard Swick was present and answered to the roll call in the House of Representatives when Congress convened this week, is stated by Harold C. Hunter, Dr. Swick's secretary in a letter to Fred L. Rentz, president of The News.

Mr. Hunter's letter follows: "Dear Fred:

"The enclosed clipping from the column 'Pa News Observers' of the January 3rd issue, would give the impression that the Congressman was absent when Congress convened for the opening session to receive the President's message."

"A check on the roll call carried in the Congressional Record, a copy of which is sent to The News daily, will correct the 'report' as the Doctor was in attendance and answered the roll call. He has been in almost constant attendance at the hearings being conducted by the Sub-Committee on Naval Appropriations, of which he is a member, for the past six weeks."

"In addition to being present, he introduced the American Legion Bill providing for certain changes in the Economy Act, affecting Service Connected World War Veterans."

"I know you want to correct this comment."

Cordially yours,
HAROLD C. HUNTER, Secy.
J. Howard Swick, MC.

Urge Veterans To Have Papers Ready For Bonus

Discharge Papers Will Be Necessary In Applying
For State Bonus

LOST DISCHARGES
CAN BE REPLACED

With the state bonus bill due to be signed this week, Commander R. Loy Boyd, of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, warns veterans that it will be necessary for them to show their discharge papers in applying for the bonus.

"It would be a wise precaution if veterans would look over their papers to see whether they have their discharge papers or not," Commander Boyd stated. "If they have not, and have had their discharge registered at the Register and Recorder's office, they will be able to secure a certified copy of their discharge papers at that office. If not, they must secure a Certificate in Lieu of Lost Discharge."

Arrangements have been made by the Perry S. Gaston Post to procure forms for applying for these certificates in case veterans have lost their discharge, which can be procured in the course of a few days at the Legion Home.

An "open house" meeting is planned for next Tuesday evening, when any veteran who desires information on the state bonus may attend. Competent persons will be present to explain the act and its workings. Lunch will be served at the close of the program.

Love Making On Screen Changes

No More Scorching Love Making,
But Gentle Refined
And Simple Adoration

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Out the cards again.

There's a new deal in love-making (on the screen). No more sizzling, equatorial kissing scenes. No more hold-me-forever clinches. No more caveman, cavewoman, cave-in-in courtships.

Says Claire Trevor, pretty 21-year-old blonde movie starlet, whom they call Hollywood's most kissable one (future tense): "They're making love differently in 1934—on and off the screen," said Claire today in an interview.

"It's a subtle, restrained and delicate approach. Perhaps it is a swing from the prohibition era of jazz and burning youth. Perhaps it is due on the screen to the trend toward costume pictures and manners of the past. "But the scorching kiss and bunny-hug of yesterday's film days seems to be past."

"Love in the movies is now sweet and simple—not that love is so simple—but you know what I mean. Will the movie audience take it and like it?"

Claire wasn't sure. The new deal made for mystery but—Some like it hot and some like it cold (interviewer's translation).

Dr. Bennett, Hall Leave For Capital

Answering the call of Executive Director Eric H. Biddle of the State Emergency Relief Board, Dr. G. S. Bennett and Wilson Hall, chairman and executive director, respectively, of the county's relief board, left for Harrisburg last night to attend a special conference of county board representatives from all over the state.

Motorists Must Give More Data

Drivers Whose Licenses Have Lapsed To Use New Form In Applying

MUST ALSO ANSWER
MORE QUESTIONS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 5.—The bureau of motor vehicles today urged applicants for learners' permits and renewals of operators' licenses which have lapsed to make sure that they apply on the new forms, effective January 1.

At the same time, the bureau notified motor clubs and other agencies which obtain application blanks for operators to destroy all old forms and get new ones.

The 1934 forms provide space for answers to questions which all drivers must fill in under the requirements of the Pennsylvania Financial Responsibility Act. In the case of operators holding 1933-34 licenses, the renewal blanks to be mailed out this month contain the questions.

H. Richard Stickel, director of the bureau said:

"Operators whose licenses have lapsed through failure to renew for 1933-34, must apply for 1934-35 licenses on form 'T-25'. Applicants for learners' permits must use form 'O-1'."

"Under the Financial Responsibility Act, all persons seeking operators' licenses must show whether they have been involved in accidents within or outside of the State during the 12 months preceding the filing of the application. If involved in accidents, they are required to state the number of accidents, the amount of the damage to their own cars, the amount claimed by or paid claims to others for property damage."

"Since the new act became effective, the bureau cannot issue any operators' licenses unless this information is given. Where the applicant has failed to answer the question the applications will be returned."

"To safeguard their driving privileges, motorists should take their time and answer each question carefully. Failure to furnish correct information will result in a two-year suspension of operating license."

Unpaid Seals Will Not Cure Tuberculosis

Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society Makes Final Appeal

RETURNS SO FAR ARE INADEQUATE

New Year resolutions should not be needed for more persons to participate in a work that directly benefits themselves and the people of this section," was an observation made today by Mrs. George Blair, chairman of the Christmas Seal sale here who said further:

"I refer to individuals who receive Christmas Seals. Possibly these Seals or the envelopes containing them have been forgotten; or they may be mislaid or hidden away. Such unpurchased Seals will not help to prevent tuberculosis.

"Returns so far for Christmas Seals have not been sufficient for the work which should be carried on this year by the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

Support of preventive measures is needed more than ever now because of conditions favoring the spread of tuberculosis. The saving of more lives depends upon the effort to control the White Plague.

"Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, speaking on the subject, 'The Fight That Never Ends,' declared that 'elimination of the tubercle bacillus from the world is a dream too remote to claim serious attention. It would solve our problem at once, but it won't happen in our lifetime. The doctors and the public health service working as hard as they can together will never gain much ground until they have the intelligent cooperation of all the people.'

"Dr. Emerson pointed out that although germs were discovered only 70 years ago and many brilliant advances have been made against certain deadly diseases, no specific cure has been discovered for a number of infections, among which tuberculosis holds first place. Physicians have devised slow procedure to hold off the disease. Among these are the pure milk campaign, testing of cattle and the tuberculin testing of children and x-raying of those who prove positive. It is costly to test all children, but the expense should not hinder the use of this method to find sources of infection.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The Lindbergh kidnaping case is still a live issue with the department of justice, Attorney General Cummings said today.

The department has analyzed nearly a trunk load of documents pertaining to the case.

"A case of that kind is never closed until solved," Cummings said. "We simply are hopeful in spite of the fact that the facts came to us cold."

Arson Ring Is Being Probed

Detroit Night Club Owner Is Under Indictment In Cleveland On Arson Charge

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 5.—With the indictment of one Detroit owner of a night club in connection with an alleged $1,000,000 fire plot, authorities today admitted that they were searching for another suspect in that city.
The hunt, according to Assistant County Prosecutor Thomas Burke, will probably lead "to the headquarters of a very tough Detroit gang."
Ely Robinson, 35, reputed Detroit night club operator, was brought to Cleveland, questioned, indicted on charge of arson, arraigned and released on $10,000 bond within a period of 16 hours.
His indictment followed the story of Max Pelsman, former superintendent of the building that set afire Nov. 30, 1931, that Robinson had visited the building a few days before the blaze.

Staley Reviews CCC Results

Tells Of Work Accomplished By 18,000 In "Special Army"

MANY ROADS BUILT IN STATE FORESTS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 5.—"An impressive record" was the description today given the accomplishments during the past six months of the 18,000 members of the Civilian Conservation Corps located in ninety-two camps in the State Forests and on State Game lands by Secretary Lewis E. Staley of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.
One of the largest undertakings of the forest workers was the construction and maintenance of some 1600 miles of truck trails, commonly known as forest roads. Horse and man trails completed and maintained were in excess of 1400 miles. In connection with this work 150 bridges spanning streams and mountain ravines were built.
Some 330 miles of State-owned telephone lines were built and repaired. Forest fire hazards were eliminated on 1850 acres and 130 miles of firebreaks for the control of woods blazes were cut through the forest. Four eighty-foot steel forest fire observation towers were erected, bringing the total of such outlook points in the State to 125.
More than 300 miles of woodlands along roadsides were cleared and 2000 acres of forest stands were given improvement cuttings. Approximately 360 acres were cleared and developed for public camps.
Another operation conducted according to Secretary Staley, on a scale never attempted before in Pennsylvania, was the control of tree diseases principally the white pine blister rust on 40,000 acres of woodland. Insect eradication especially of the destructive southern pine beetle was completed on 475 acres.

wood school, near Pittsburgh after spending the holiday vacation with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McAnlis.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Church of the Nazarene met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lulu Fry. The new study course recently received is proving very interesting.

Dr. Blackwood Is Doctors' Leader

Chosen At County Medical Society's Election; Group Hears Speaker

Dr. James M. Blackwood today is the new president of the Lawrence County Medical Society as a result of his election last night at the organization's first meeting of 1934 in the Young Men's Christian Association.
Dr. Blackwood assumes the post which Dr. Samuel W. Perry has held during the past year.
The doctors reelected the other 1933 officers to serve this year, and they follow:
First vice president, Dr. J. D. Crawford; second vice president, Dr. J. B. Barrett; treasurer, Dr. W. C. Burchfield, and secretary, Dr. W. A. Womer.
The principal speaker on the evening program was Dr. E. H. Williams of the Seventh ward who spoke on the subject "Recent Advances in Endocrinology." His discourse was based upon the treatment of diseases by the extract of various glands of the body, and in a scientific manner, he spoke of the possibilities of this treatment which now is in its infancy.
Secretary Womer told the society of the recent medical relief discussion which marked the annual Harrisburg meeting of medical society secretaries from all over Pennsylvania. A fine report was also made by the group's milk commission.

Writer Commends William McElwee

Among the political features of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, the "Mirrors of Harrisburg" conducted by Bernard Haggerty, with pictures by James House, Jr., is one that attracts considerable attention. Figures on Capitol Hill are portrayed in the light in which they appear to Haggerty, a veteran political writer and one of the foremost mirror shows the reflection of Representative William McElwee, Jr. Haggerty has the following to say of Mr. McElwee.
"Lawrence County has made many priceless gifts to the Commonwealth but the one that stands out like the North Star on a frosty night is Representative William McElwee, Jr., in the General Assembly. In the large and extremely variegated cluster of Republicans who control the house, Mr. McElwee is a prominent figure. His outlook upon the Legislature is that of a free and independent American citizen who is cognizant of everything worth knowing about his party. Serious in demeanor as well as in thought, he watches legislation as a falcon watches its prey and pounces upon any bill not for the best interests of his own constituency and the State at large. He is a college man, a lawyer and a politician of parts and held several offices before his election to the Legislature. He also is a member of his home-town Rotary Club."

STRONG OPPOSITION TO FOREIGN DEBT REVISION

President's Plan To Be Contested

Many In Congress Against Cutting Down Foreign Debts To U. S.

ROOSEVELT FAVORS TRADE CONCESSIONS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The reported intent of President Roosevelt to propose a downward revision of America's $11,565,000,000 foreign debt total today developed terrific opposition on Capitol Hill.

The Republican minorities in house and senate were ready to battle the President on the debt issue—and with considerable Democratic help. This was indicated when Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, regarded as rather friendly to Mr. Roosevelt, secured prompt senate action on a resolution, calling on the secretary of the treasury for a report on the present status of the foreign debts.

"It was the forerunner of an attack on those governments, which failed to pay their debts," Borah admitted.

Oppose Move To Cut Debts
In other quarters, it was interpreted as the opening shot in a Republican attack on any administration move to reduce the debts. It is an open secret that Mr. Roosevelt favors some sort of debt concessions—kind and extent unspecified. Likewise, it is believed he favors trade concessions to many foreign nations in an effort to build up America's foreign trade.

The Republicans will fight him on both grounds. They will oppose trade concessions to any of the defaulting debtor nations and they will oppose any reduction of the debts in return for trade concessions to the United States.

America's former world war allies owe about $11,000,000,000.

The defaults began last year when France led the way by refusing any further payment. Belgium, Greece, Hungary and others followed suit. England and Italy made token payments. The little government of Finland took the opposite position and made her due payments in full.

The attitude of Republicans was expressed by Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania.

"It seems to me there is less excuse now than ever before for cancellation or further reduction of those debts," said Reed. "I think the defaults, that have occurred, were deeply resented by the American people."

"When I view the enormous deficit, indicated by the president's budget message, and hear that there is a likelihood of a further debt cancellation, I am sure the American taxpayer is the forgotten man."

SUGGESTS CITY-COUNTY COOPERATION

Mr. Fred Rentz, New Castle News, Jan. 4, 1934.

Dear Sir:—Well, Mr. Rentz, it appears that most "everybody's doing it" these days. What I mean is, the folks are doing some thinking for themselves and refusing to allow the master minds to do it all, as they were inclined to do B. P.

After reading Mr. Lockhart's analysis of the cost of a new court house, I believe he succeeded in causing many of our tax burdened citizens to do a bit of thinking, as proven by the very able reply by one of our farmer friends.

Mr. Lockhart's argument was sound and convincing in that we can build a new court house without an increase in our taxes, and while we agree we need a new court house, I am of the opinion that many are in accord with our farmer friend that what we really want is less taxes and more income to meet the present (and past) taxes.

However, it begins to look as though we are to get a new court house whether we want it or not, hence this suggestion of mine, following up one of a year ago. There is one thing about this American government of ours that we all apparently get a kick out of—and makes one sometimes think and "kick" should be applied to us and not from us—and that is our tenacity to create as many bureaus, departments and jobs, especially jobs, as possible and then kick about the cost. However, we have "em so what? Well, there is nothing to stop us from using our heads once in a while, so if we must have a court house, why not do a bit of cooperation?

ing all along the line? As George Muse would say, "you tell 'em." Well, let's couple them up first, cut in the air, pump up to standard pressure, stop all the leaks, test air brakes—O. K.—High Ball—we're off on a clear block. Let us couple up the county officials, the city officials and the school officials into a co-operative whole and see if we cannot arrive at some constructive objective that will be of mutual benefit for all concerned—if we must have a new court house, I am going to leave the values and costs involved in this suggestion to those who are better informed than I am; all I want to try to do is suggest a plan of constructive cooperation.

The county wants a new court house—the school district has the site—Martin Gantz—centrally located on the widest street in the city. The city needs a new building located as heally as the county. Let's combine for a city-county building. The advantages of having the city and county offices all under one roof are so apparent that it needs no comment. The city-county buys Martin Gantz from the school district, the school district purchases a site for a school in the first ward—takes over the present court house, clears for a school, replacing the Aiken school with a decent one. The school district sells the North street property and we then have two taxable properties. The city cuts down its share of the total cost of a city-county building—the school district has a considerable amount for two new schools, badly needed, and the R. F. C. grants us 30 per cent of the entire cost of three badly needed public buildings, would we not be safe in saying that a million dollars would provide for all three projects instead of but one?

Of course this is just a rough plan and there is no question but that if the city-county and school authorities all get together on a plan of action as herein suggested, there will likely be a number of changes. If the proposition in general meets with the approval of those responsible for the welfare of the citizens, and is handled in an earnest effort toward constructive cooperation, I believe a satisfactory plan can be worked out.

What do you think, brother taxpayer?

J. H. McILVENNY.

LOCKHART'S BEAUTIFUL FIGURES

Editor News, New Castle, Pa., Jan. 4, 1934.
Dear Sir:—Along with most of the taxpayers we were much interested in Mr. Lockhart's address and figures given before the Rotary Club. And we want to call attention to an expert opinion we had out here in Mahoning township in issuing bonds and building a large school building in Hillsville.

We were told by the then county school management, and their friends, that the then sixteen mills levy for school purposes would pay off these bonds in a few years, with no increase in taxation. They had the figures to prove it beyond the benefit of a doubt.

At present we are paying twenty-six mills school tax; and running behind at that, and the commissioners can hardly expect us to swallow Mr. Lockhart's figures and other propaganda with the guileless faith of young robins swallowing shingle nails every time they jar the nest.

To put a fireproof basement under the present Court House to store records in, is the sensible thing to do. It would care for our needs for many years to come. The present trend is toward less court business, rather than more; people are realizing the truth of the maxim, "A poor compromise always beats a good lawsuit."

The lives of our Amish friends, and those of us who believe as they do, prove that.

ARTHUR WRIGHT, Mahoning Township.

NEW COURT HOUSE

Mount Jackson, January 2, 1934.

Editor The News: Dear Sir:—

For several days now, we have had nothing about the thirty per cent donation to build a new court house and no proclamation or manifesto has been sent out from the commissioners office in the Temple of Justice on the hill. The thirty per cent story has been widely advertised. It has been told in Gath and published in Ashkelon. It has been proclaimed from the house tops with a great flourish of trumpets, broadcasted on the radio and translated into other languages, but the trouble is that instead of the thirty per cent being a donation, it will be an advancement and together with the other seventy per cent of the cost of building a courthouse, it will have to be paid by the taxpayers of Lawrence county, if it is paid at all, which is exceedingly doubtful.

Mr. Lockhart's statement that the opposition to a new court house comes from the rural districts and was largely due to ignorance was a fine tribute to the farmers and they appreciate it very much. Mr. Lockhart repeats the thirty per cent story and while he did not say it in so many words, his idea seemed to be that we would have so much time to pay the other seventy per cent that everyone would forget about it and we might not have to pay it at all.

The $39,000 that was to be paid to the architect was to be a donation, all except $5,000, which was to pay them for their services in preparing the plans for the court house. Now as to the question of taxation, the real estate of Pennsylvania is valued at 40 per cent of the wealth of the state and yet they pay 85 per cent of the taxes. Now in view of all the facts in the case it looks as if the rural residents ought to have something to say about how the tax money is expended.

We hear much about the forgotten man, which is the farmer, as a matter of fact, the selling price of all kinds of farm products is less than the actual cost of production. With his back to the wall, he is fighting the battle of his life, struggling to keep the sheriff from selling his home. It may be the old homestead in his family name for a hundred years; the old house around which the will cluster many fond memories and hallowed associations. In the name of humanity, in the name of reason and common sense, I ask the question. Is it not time to call a halt on the reckless and unnecessary expenditure of the public funds?

Very respectfully,
S. A. COWDEN.

Giant New Engine In B. & O. Service

"Lord Baltimore" has a companion. Lord Baltimore as you may know is the giant super-locomotive that hauls the Capitol Limited between New Castle and Washington, D. C., on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Big as it is, and powerful as it is, there is a new locomotive in service on the B. & O., more powerful than the Lord Baltimore but the new engine has no name as yet.

The new giant left New Castle at 12:06 a. m. today on its maiden trip to Chicago, Ill., hauling the Capitol Limited and made the trip through to Chicago without change. In length it is no longer than the Lord Baltimore but is much more powerful, capable of hauling 14 air conditioned Pullmans with ease.

The new engine carries 350 pounds of steam pressure as against 220 for the Lord Baltimore, and has smaller pistons the pistons being 21 1/2 x 28 inches. It is equipped with a booster engine which is used for starting purposes only. The weight of the engine with tender is 591,000 pounds, weight on drivers 20,200. total weight of the engine alone 353,000. It is the creation of Col. George Emmerson and was built in the Mt. Clare Shops of the B. & O.

In the cab of the new engine this morning when it left New Castle were Engineer Harry Stinger, Fireman George Langhurst, Master Mechanic Harry Reese and Superintendent of Motive Power C. W. Galloway.

The tank of the engine carries 13,500 gallons of water, while the tender carries 21 tons of coal. In construction it is known as a 4-6-4 type, there being a pony truck on the front, 6-7 1/2 inch drivers and a double truck under the cab.

An interesting feature of the engine is that it is a water tube boiler type, something new in locomotives and at the present time is the finest passenger locomotive in the entire world.

Youngster Shot Playing Game Of Cowboy And Indian

(International News Service)
BRYN MAWR, Pa., Jan. 5.—A hunting rifle owned by Gordon "Mickey" Cochran, recently sold by Connie Mack to the Detroit American league baseball club of which he is now manager, today had brought sadness to his son, "Mickey, Jr."

A bullet from the weapon during a friendly tussle in a game of "cowboys and Indians" struck eight-year-old Keith A. Culverhouse of Bryn Mawr, a Philadelphia suburb.

The injured boy was brought to the Bryn Mawr hospital, where doctors said the youngster will recover.

Mickey and Mrs. Cochran are away. Gordon, Jr., has been living with his grandmother during their absence.

Wholesale Food Code Is Signed

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Roosevelt today approved the code of fair practices and competition for the wholesale food and grocery trade, affecting 13,000 establishments having net sales of $9,537,322.579 and employing about 185,000 workers.

This is the first major code that was transferred from the AAA recently for the NRA to handle.

Arrest Trio For Poultry Thefts

Officials Solve Thefts Of Turkeys And Chickens In Volant District

YOUNGSTOWN MEN ACCUSED IN CASE

Theft of turkeys and chickens during the Christmas holidays in not only sections of Lawrence but also Butler and Allegheny counties was solved through the cooperation of Deputy Sheriff Chambers of Mahoning county, O., and State police it is announced.

As a result two alleged thieves are in Butler State police barracks and one is held in the Mahoning, O., county jail.

According to State Policeman Andrew Hughmanick, County Detective A. Sharp Leslie and Constable J. D. Fallon the men arrested are: Marion Purdy, Roy C. Rowe and Myrt Cox, all of Youngstown. Purdy and Rowe are in the Butler barracks but Purdy is held in the Ohio jail.

It is said they confessed to stealing turkeys from Mrs. Mary Watson, R. D. 3, Volant; chickens from Rucker, R. D. 3, Volant and chickens from C. M. Rohrbaugh, Hickory township.

The turkeys were worth $15.00 and chickens, worth $50.00. Charges of breaking and entering, and also larceny have been placed against the prisoners held at Butler. Before being brought here however, the two held at Butler will be tried in Butler county for stealing chickens at Harrisville.

Leslie, Hughmanick and Fallon of this city and Corporal White and Private Rugoskey of Troop D aided in the investigation.

AROUND CITY HALL

Disorderly house ordinance, adopted in 1924 has worked to the mutual advantage of the city and persons accused of operating such places and it is believed that through the ordinance the city has netted more money than from any other city law pertaining to police work. Practically every place charged with being a "disorderly house" has been in some way related to the liquor traffic. And when persons were accused of operating a "disorderly house" they preferred to pay a stiff fine in city police court rather than face a charge of selling liquor in county court. When the measure was adopted it was said by some to be unconstitutional. However, no one ever had the ordinance tested.

Director of finance Albert A. Hoyland believes there are a large number of people who want to pay their taxes and will as soon as they can collect a few dollars from work but believes there are other people who can pay and have not paid their taxes. He said this much yesterday before councilman colleagues and he discussed purchase of tools and materials.

It is not known how many picks and shovels there are in the city but it is believed that when the city spends $17,000 or any part thereof for tools and materials that it will aid local business. The government will pay the Civil Work administration employees. All the city needs do is buy tools and materials.

Anyone who has any idea that the chief of police is not the chief should see the mayor. Not long ago the rumor prevailed that changes in the department of police personnel were proposed and the mayor remarked: "See the chief." Later when the question of what kind of equipment would be purchased for the department was asked, the mayor replied: "See the chief. He is running the department."

B. F. Butler, director of streets and improvements, is getting his feet on the ground in City Hall. He is paying keen attention to street department affairs, and when he is not yet wholly informed concerning all things, he proposes to know considerable about its workings before long, and it is then that changes, if any, will be made. At least, this is the City Hall line o'chatter.

Considerable of the money paid as taxes go to pay the salaries of the officials and employees of the city of New Castle. Were things normal, all salaries would be restored and it is probable the salaries of the mayor, council and controller would be put back to former amounts. One mayor drew $3,600 and several other officials were for a time in on the $3,000-per-annum rate. In Wednesday's salary list

Would Send to Europe For San Cura Ointment If Necessary

"I enclose stamps for a 60c jar of San Cura Ointment. I am sending from coast to coast but I would send to Europe for San Cura Ointment if I could not get it in this country. It is the most wonderful ointment in the world." John O'ray, R. D. 1, Kent, Wash.

"I shall always be a staunch supporter of San Cura Ointment for I believe it saved my little girl from having blood poison and has healed everything we tried it on." Mrs. D. B. Sinclair, 403 N. Lena St., Dathan, Ala.

"I am enclosing one dollar for which please send me four cakes of San Cura Soap. I have been using the San Cura products for some time and I find them splendid for all skin troubles." Jas. W. Geiger, 321 D. St., N. E. Washington, D. C.

the controller's 1934 salary was given as $3,000. He will draw only $2,500, as council passed an ordinance in 1933 designating that his salary should be no larger than they were paid, which will be $2,500.

Public officials are the goal of all solicitors and it would not be surprising were one of the councilmen, say Joe Alexander, for instance, to follow the practice of other corporation directors and have a sign placed in City Hall stating: "No soliciting allowed." Every day someone pages the officials in City Hall seeking contributions or for the purpose of disposing of tickets or chances of one kind or the other.

The department of collection of garbage wants the truck, but two trucks, according to Howard Phillips, who said yesterday that one truck is entirely out of commission and that another is "about shot". The quota for the department is five, one of which is used to transport tin cans from residences. Things look favorable for one truck. However, if Phillips' plea is heard he may get two trucks.

Council provides automobiles for various departments, but the only automobile they can use when they have to make a view or go on an inspection is one of the cars from the police department, which takes a car out of service. According to orders in the department, drivers are prohibited from driving persons, whether or not they are city employees, to and from work.

Miss Norris Given Extra Relief Duties

Miss Beulah Norris, case supervisor for the Lawrence County Emergency Relief Board, assumed additional jurisdiction when she was recently named as case supervisor for the Beaver county board. Her predecessor there became a field director for the state board.

Miss Norris now divides her attention between the local relief work and that of Beaver county.

NEW CASTLE DRUG CO. WAS CROWDED IN RESPONSE TO LIBERAL OFFER

Scores Accepted Invitation Of The Vendol Man To Try His Great New Remedy Free. For The Stomach, Liver, Kidneys And Bowels. Come Try It If You Are Not Feeling Your Best.

Hardly ever has there been such a crowd in the New Castle Drug Co. as were on hand to accept the invitation of the Vendol Man to try a free sample of this new remedy that has gained such a wide reputation for relief of troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and the blood. Not only from all over the city but people were there from many nearby towns.

Someone in the crowd remarked they didn't know New Castle had so many people suffering from constipation, indigestion, gas in the stomach, poor appetite, nervousness, headaches or who had backache, rheumatism, neuritis, dizziness, or just generally run-down and needed something to pep them up.

However, the reputation of Vendol had spread and many knew about this new medicine before its arrival in New Castle.

Men and women who have given it a fair trial praise it highly. People in all walks of life—business men, railroad men, factory superintendents, mill workers, ministers, farmers and the wives of these men declare that Vendol has given them relief after other medicines failed.

There is good, sound, common sense back of all this. Vendol is the prescription used by a prominent physician down South. It is composed of well-known herbs such as Senna Leaves, Poke Root, Black Cohosh, Anise Seed, Yellow Dock, Aloes, May Apple and several others which have been used by the medical profession for generations.

MR. J. A. MCGUIRE, The Vendol Man

In Vendol these herbs are mixed and blended in the right proportion one to the other so that results are, in some cases, really astounding.

If you, who read this, are not feeling your very best will come to the New Castle Drug Co., 31 East Washington St. and ask for me, the Vendol Man, I will tell you what you may expect Vendol to do for you. I'll give you a free sample and a valuable health book, and, if you will be frank with me, I'll tell you honestly if I believe my medicine will benefit you. No obligation on your part, so come at once. No samples sent by mail. Sale size may be had C. O. D.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

FARM SHOW EXHIBITS

A number of Lawrence County folks are preparing their exhibits preparatory to sending them to the State Farm Products Show to be held in Harrisburg January 15th to 19th.

These exhibits include: Guernsey and Shorthorn cattle to be exhibited by C. L. Brennenman of Plain Grove Township; Ida Peebles of Scott Township and Albert McConnell of Washington Township, members of the Lawrence-Mercer 4-H Baby Beef Club, will each exhibit a short-horn Baby Beef Calf; Wool will be exhibited by the Lawrence County Wool Growers Association, and by G. M. Pullerton of North Beaver Township; Dr. Fred Taylor of Pulaski Township will exhibit certified milk, and R. L. Thompson of Wilkes Township will exhibit milk.

Exhibits will include: Honey, by Elsie McCreary of Hickory Township; a Party dress outfit by Betty Dice of Little Beaver Township; a dress by Ellen McClenahan of Pulaski Township; and under garments by Agnes Peebles of Scott Township.

These are a few of the exhibits which will represent Lawrence County at this year's show. There are, no doubt, a number of other people who plan to make an exhibit but have not notified the Extension Association to that effect.

Any Lawrence County people who plan to attend the Show and travel by train may obtain reduced railroad certificates either at the Railroad Station or through the Extension Association Office.

CHICKS CAN BE HATCHED DURING WINTER MONTHS

Rearing winter or "out of season" chicks offers several possibilities for profit to farm folk owners.

During the winter, weather conditions are not favorable for the start of coccidiosis and other poultry troubles. Chicks may be well started then during the slack work season on the farm. The winter program also gets more use out of the brooder house and equipment.

"What egg production may I expect from chicks hatched in January, for example, 'the average' experience of one progressive poultryman who has been raising those 'out of season' chicks for a number of years is on White Leghorns over a 3-year period he obtained an annual production of 203 eggs per bird from January chicks, 201 from March chicks, 197 from May chicks, 203 from June chicks, and 213 from July chicks. The average egg production for the September, October, and November period was respectively 51, 44, 52, 50, and 54.

With the heavy varieties, Reds and Rocks, this poultryman got an annual production of a bird for the 3-year period of 158 eggs from chicks hatched in November and December, 181 from chicks hatched in February and March, 193 from June chicks, 187 from August chicks, and 187 from October chicks. The average production per bird for the three months was respectively 40, 41, 40, 42 and 41 eggs.

These figures show that there is not a wide variation in the annual egg production of birds hatched in the different months.

GROW GOOD CALVES TO IMPROVE DAIRY HERD

Calf raising provides opportunity for economical and effective improvement of the dairy herd. Replacement animals are necessary from time to time, and the dairyman who follows a good program in breeding and calf raising will maintain his herd in numbers and also will definitely improve it in efficiency and in value with each succeeding generation.

Three definite practices are included: (1) the use of a sire that has proved his ability to transmit high milk production to his offspring or a sire from families of proved uniform high average milk production; (2) raising heifer calves from only the best cows in the herd; and (3) keeping calves growing from birth until maturity.

The young calf should have whole milk for at least two weeks, after which a gradual change may be made to skim milk or a skim milk substitute. As the change is made to skim milk there should be some grain and good quality hay provided. The feeding of skim milk or a good substitute should be continued until the calf is six months of age. After reaching that age the calf will thrive on roughage, pasture, and grain if abundant and of good quality.

Dairymen of Lawrence County should pay careful attention to their breeding and calf raising program. Better herds will result. Detailed information on breeding, on calf raising, and on heifer development can be obtained at the office of the Agricultural Extension Association.

PREPARE FOR GROWING EARLY GARDEN PLANTS

Fresh vegetables for home use or market may be matured much earlier by using well-grown plants of selected varieties. Early plants also insure larger yields of peppers, eggplants, and tomatoes.

A 10 by 18-foot sash greenhouse, heated by a coal or gas stove, makes an ideal structure for the grower who requires 15,000 to 25,000 plants. Glass sash, 3 by 6 feet in size, will be needed. The cost of this structure will be about $75. Coldframe space also will be needed. Coldframes and hotbeds are also being used by home gardeners to grow plants and early crops, such as lettuce, spinach, green onions, radishes and other small crops. Composted soil, well-rotted manure, and sand will be needed. These materials can be dried and stored for use at seeding time in February and March.

USE RACK FOR FEEDING UN-GROUND HAY TO HOGS

Swine will do better during the winter if a good quality legume hay, such as alfalfa or clover, is included in the ration. This is especially true of brood sows and fall pigs.

While the hay often is mixed with grain in the form of ground alfalfa or clover, sometimes it is necessary to feed the hay unground. For feeding hay this way a rack, 2 feet wide, 4 to 6 feet long, and 3 or 4 feet high, will be convenient. The sides are made of 1 by 4 inch slats which slant to the center of the floor. This equipment will soon pay for itself in feed saved.

New Castle Will Get Test Tonight

Pittsburgh South High Basketball Team Will Give New Castle Real Contest

Game To Start At 8 o'clock At George Washington High Floor; Line-up Intact

Pittsburgh South High basketball team will come to New Castle tonight bent on revenge for defeat handed them last year by Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh and his New Castle High Section Three champions. This was one of the few games that Pittsburgh South lost and they want to make up for it. The game at George Washington junior high floor to-night starting at 8 o'clock, should be one of the best of the year.

Whether or not New Castle high has a basketball team worthy of repeating their sensational victories of last year will be known tonight. If New Castle defeats Pittsburgh South there is a possibility that this year's team is up to standard. Last year New Castle beat this "wonder" team 26 to 23.

Strong Lineup.
Coach Washbaugh will have practically the same lineup this year. The only man missing is Jesko and his place is being taken by Spoto. New Castle will not have Johnny Uram and Johnny Teplica from the lineup that upset the Pittsburgh South team last year.

Bridenbaugh has given the New Castle team long drills this week. New Castle didn't look any too good against New Ken high the other night down in the valley. They will have to play a different brand of basketball tonight to take the measure of the Pittsburghers.

On Winning Streak.
Captain "Bus" Reiber will be at one guard and Walter Komine at the other guard. Big Joe Kelly will hold down the center position. The forwards will be Russ Batley and Archie Ridley.

So far this year the Pittsburgh South team has mopped up on the opposition, having upset Allegheny among others, and this isn't being done very regularly. The fans to-night will see in action a team that was good enough last year to advance to the finals in the state championship play.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner has set the prices for the game tonight at 15 cents for students, 25 cents for adults for general admission and 35 cents for reserved seats.

Probable Lineups.
Following are the probable lineups for tonight:

New Castle: F. Pittsburgh; Ridley, F. Spoto; Batley, F. Milovich; Kelly, C. Galowski; Reiber, G. Jakubowski; Komine, G. Miskevich; Referee—"Les" Harr (Geneva).

Ellsworth Vines Wins With Ease
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Tennis critics today had put their okay on Ellsworth Vines, the former amateur king, who recently turned pro to join Bill Tilden's troupe.

Vines looked good yesterday when he hopped off a train and split two sets with Bruce Barnes, 4-6, 7-5. At a dinner last night, Tilden reiterated that he would have signed Bunny Austin and Fred Perry, English aces, as pros if they had not won the Davis cup.

Evans City And Shenango High Battle Tonight

Evans City High basketball team will play the Shenango High basketball team tonight at the Shenango High gym. The Rancymen are ready for a tough engagement with the Section 18 W. P. I. A. L. team. Shenango is favored to upset the Butler Cougars.

There will be three games on tap tonight, the first game will start at 7:30 o'clock and will find the Shenango High girls playing the girls team from East New Castle. The second game will have the Evans City High Reserves and Shenango High Reserves tussling. Three good games are anticipated by followers of the various teams.

Union Is Ready For Zelenople
Coaches Boyd And Rudolph Have Union Ready For Zelenople Game In League

Union High School basketball team, Section 18 champions last year will open their 1934 Section 18 race tonight at the Zelenople High floor by meeting the fast Sager coached combination. Coaches Boyd and Rudolph have Union High ready for the tough game that is anticipated.

Coach Dave Boyd, who has been in a Johnstown hospital recuperating from an appendicitis operation is back at Union High and will more than likely try and be with the Union team at Zelenople. Coach Rudolph has been directing the Union team in Boyd's absence, and has done a good job.

Zelenople has won four games so far this year and have yet to be defeated. They have defeated Sewickley twice, 28 to 24, Leetsdale, 20 to 18, Sewickley, 32 to 24, and Saxonsburg, 29 to 21.

Rudolph at Union has switched his lineup around somewhat and has Dom Monico at a forward and Morrison at center, with Schaas being moved back to a guard post.

The following are the probable lineups of the game tonight:

Union High: F. Zelenople; Boron, F. Richardson; Monico, F. Simmons; Morrison, C. Stryker; White, G. Yockey; Schaas, G. McMichael.

West Pittsburgh Trips Falcons
New Castle's Tin City Rovers basketball team dropped a tough engagement last night at Senior High to the Youngstown entry in the Penn-Ohio loop, the final score being 40 to 36 but only after two extra five minute periods. A fair sized crowd witnessed one of the best contests of the year.

Jack Mariner was the big star of the game with 23 points to his credit. The former State star had eight field goals and seven fouls. Patterson of the Tin City Rovers had 11 points as second high scorer.

Nip And Tuck
The first period ended 7 to 5 Youngstown. The half ended 16 to 15 Youngstown. The third period it was 25 to 21 Youngstown, and the regular game ended at 33-33 with the Frascmen spurring in the last few minutes to deadlock the game.

The first five minute extra-period ended 35 to 35, with each team scoring two points. In the second extra period Reno of the Youngstown team shot a couple of fouls and Mariner caged a field goal that turned the trick. Pounders, former Western Reserve star had six points.

Rubber Game At Grove City

Grove City And Westminster Have Each Won 21 Contests In Past 42 Games

TITANS RULED AS FAVORITES

GROVE CITY, Jan. 5.—When Grove City and Westminster open the Tri-State conference basketball season here this evening, the leadership in the long series of floor games between the rivals will be at stake. In a total of 42 games played since the season of 1901-02, the neighboring institutions have broken exactly even, each school winning 21 games, according to the records on file here.

The Titans, however, are away out in front in recent years, having eight out of 10 contests played in the last five years. Since 1929, Grove City has been unable to win at Westminster, although for the past two years the Groves have eked out a slim margin on the home court, in 32 by a 23-22 score and last year 24 to 22.

Titans Favored.
Westminster's veteran 1934 club rules the favorite in tonight's game. Upsets have been numerous in the long rivalry, however, and anything can—and usually does—happen when the two schools meet in any sport. It will be Grove City's second start of the season, while the Titans have had several college games prior to tonight's conference opening.

With the Grove City starting lineup still uncertain, Coach Thorn is expected to start Minnick, Tomko, Seich, Deems and either Trembath or Kenmuir. This team has been used consistently in the week's practice, and as each man is in good condition the team will be chosen from this group. As none of the boys are tall, Thorn expects plenty of trouble from the Towering Titans.

(International News Service)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 5.—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion today confirmed reports that an heir will arrive in the Dempsey household in a few months.

"I am delighted to admit the report is true," he said. "It looks like my greatest wish is coming true. We are both terribly happy and hope its true."

Mrs. Dempsey, the former Hannah Williams, musical comedy star, smiled joyously as the former champion announced the coming event, on his arrival here from the Pacific coast. She declined to comment.

"It's all true," Jack volunteered. "We hope its true and well be satisfied whether its a boy or a girl."

Dempsey said the event was about six or seven months distant.

Charles Frederick Walley, 35-year-old former lieutenant of the British air corps, is snapped behind the bars of his cell in a Mexico City jail, after being sentenced to a 16-year prison term following his conviction on charges of slaying David Burton Emeno, superintendent of a branch bank in the Mexican capital. Walley, who attempted to escape conviction by contending that he was insane on the day he fired six bullets into Emeno's body, was alleged to have killed Emeno because the latter had dismissed him from the bank's employ.

Stock Market
Is Irregular

Market Shows No Inclination To Carry Thru With Thursday's Late Recovery

UTILITY SHARES
EXTREMELY QUIET

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The stock market presented a mixed appearance today with the list as a whole showing no outstanding disposition to carry through with yesterday's late recovery.

Gold mining shares which, yesterday had been in the van of the upturn, were offered in moderate volume and sold down from fractions to a point, with United States Smelting the most active.

Motor shares also were sold by traders taking profits and Chrysler lost nearly a point while General Motors held fairly steady but failed to move forward despite the large turnover.

An irregular price movement prevailed in the rail shares partially as a result of the Interstate Commerce Commission proposal for the setting up of sinking funds for bond retirements. This would mitigate against dividend payments for the time being at least.

Despite strength in the dollar the United States government bond list continued to work lower. Other bonds also were irregular.

The grain markets displayed independent strength with the grains ruling steady to fractionally higher, but cotton lost moderately.

Utility shares were quiet and steady under the leadership of Consolidated Gas. Specialty and liquor shares were quiet and steady.

Treasury Report Given Congress

Major Expenditures By Federal Government During 1933 Were $1,913,000,000

For First Time In Many Years Secretary Of Treasury Does Make Recommendations

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Major expenditures due to, or primarily affected by, the depression were $1,913,000,000 during the 1933 fiscal year as compared with $1,750,000,000 in 1932. It was disclosed by the treasury department's annual report sent to congress Thursday.

William H. Woodin, signed the report. He was succeeded January 1 by Henry Morgenthau, Jr. There was little comment in the report which was confined to hard financial facts and was a mere recital as to what had occurred during the fiscal year ending last June. Estimates of receipts and expenditures for 1934 and 1935, duplicated in the president's message, were contained.

No Recommendation
For the first time in years the secretary of the treasury made no recommendations to congress.

During the year the Reconstruction Finance Corp. made payments of $1,277,000,000 as compared with $768,000,000 the year before. Expenditures for public works decreased in 1933, amounting to $474,000,000 as compared with $507,000,000 in 1932.

Service on the public debt amounted to $1,151,000,000 in 1933 an increase of $139,000,000 over 1932. For national defense and war veterans the government expended $1,502,000,000, a decrease of $129,000,000.

In 1933 income taxes amounted to $746,200,000 as compared with $1,057,300,000 the year before. Current income taxes in 1933 amounted to $614,400,000 compared with $868,000,000 in 1932. Receipts from back taxes decreased from $189,300,000 to $131,700,000.

Receipts from miscellaneous internal revenue taxes were $358,200,000, an increase of $354,500,000. The taxes on tobacco continued to be the largest source yielding $402,700,000. The cigarette tax amounted to $328,400,000, a gain of $10,900,000.

At the end of the 1933 fiscal year the gross public debt was $22,538,672,560, an increase of $3,051,670,116. Treasury financing operations in the open market during the year reflected chiefly, an excess of expenditures over ordinary receipts, payments against credits established for the R. F. C. through the purchase of its obligations, retirements of maturing debt and increase in the cash balance. About 43 per cent of the issues in 1933 were securities with maturities in excess of one year.

Between June 30, 1919 and June 30, 1931, the annual interest charge on the debt was reduced from $1,054,000,000 to $589,000,000 and the rate was reduced from 4.18 to 3.57 percent. By June 30, 1933 the interest charge had increased to $752,000,000 but the rate had declined to 3.25 percent.

On Court House Hill

Justice of the Peace H. M. Reynolds of Union Township, who was at the court house this morning, says that he married 335 couples during the past year. They came as far away as Texas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and New York, although by far the greater number were from Ohio. Most of them were young couples, but he married one couple who both were past 67 years of age. Despite their years they seemed to be as happy as the younger ones. Ceremonies were performed at all hours of the day and night. On various occasions Reynolds was aroused after midnight, and once he was routed out at 4 o'clock in the morning. On several occasions he found young couples waiting in parked cars when he got up in the morning.

Commission of N. O. Allen as Justice of the Peace of Washington township, was registered at the office of Register and Recorder, William R. Hanna today.

Joseph Knepp, Edward Becker and R. H. Gresecker of Little Beaver township, interviewed the county commissioners yesterday, with reference to securing funds to buy aneostic, or sliver road covering on a proposed improvement in that township. It is proposed to build that they would like to be able to furnish material for townships, but it would be too big an undertaking, as every township in the county would be in after material.

There was never such an opportunity as the present for townships to get roads improved at little cost and many are taking advantage of it. Even though money for material has to be borrowed, it will not cost as much to keep up the roads in the future, and it would really result in a saving to taxpayers.

Salaries of court house employees will be fixed at a meeting of the salary board, composed of the county commissioners, and others within a few days. Salaries of the heads of departments, such as treasurer, register and recorder, probatory, sheriff, controller and county commissioners are fixed by law, but the salaries of deputies and clerks are at the discretion of the salary board. Formerly the salary board was composed of the county commissioners and county treasurer, but under a new law the heads of the different departments are permitted to sit in with the salary board, when the salaries of the employees under them are being considered.

The county commissioners have given no indication as to whether salaries are to be raised, lowered, or remain the same as last year. Some voluntary reductions were made when the board fixed the salaries for 1933.

In the estate of the late Joseph Hunter McCance of Pulaski township letters testamentary have been issued to John R. Pearson. Under his will, which has been probated at the register and recorder's office, decedent left one-fourth of his realty to his son, Chester F. McCance; one fourth to a daughter, Mary McCance Fennell and one half to another daughter, Josephine McCance Phenice.
